WHO NEEDS JHSC TRAINING?

Employers in Ontario with 20 or more regular workers must have a Joint Health and Safety Committee consisting of at least two trained and certified members (one management and one worker representative).

Supervisors, health and safety managers and health and safety representatives also benefit from JHSC certification training.

Certification training has two steps: Part 1 (Basic Certification) and Part 2 (Workplace Specific). Part 2 builds upon Part 1, with a focus on specific workplace hazards and controls. Both Part 1 and Part 2 are required to become a certified member.

WHY ONLINE TRAINING?

Online training offers many advantages:

- Convenient – Available 24/7. Employees fit the training into their schedule.
- Cost-effective – Less expensive than in-class training.
- Efficient – No time away from the workplace. No travel expenses.
- Flexible – Self-paced. Employees progress at their own speed.
- Customizable – Corporate logo added at no additional charge.

Can be combined with Act First Safety's instructor-led and online training for maximum relevance and depth.

Part 1 is eligible for 1 BCRSP maintenance point (Board of Canadian Registered Safety Professionals).
